THE GM SPEAKS OUT

As you may have noticed by now, the En Passant games have been separated from the regular issue of Impassable. There were several reasons for this. 1. Space was more limited this time, 2. The readers voted overwhelmingly against games, and 3. I want to experiment a little bit with graphics and layout. There is still another reason of which is the most important—I have read somewhere (I think in Platypus Pie) that Greg Warden has returned from his trip overseas.

This means that in all probability that this represents my last gamesmastering chore for the En Passant games. Rather than set another deadline, I will publish the results of this past season and then hand them over to Greg when he gets in touch with me. Thus, your next word on your games will come from him. However, if there are any mistakes or errors in either adjudication or print in these published results, please contact me as I have all the records and can correct them more quickly. Thank-you, it has been a pleasure to help Greg Warden.

GAMESMASTER: John Boyer, 117 Garland Drive, Carlisle, Pennsylvania 17013 Ph. (717) 249-1343, after 9:30 on weekdays.

AN INVITATION

I hope that I have served well as your gamesmaster/publisher, and well enough to merit some of you to either sub to Impassable, or to even enter my experienced game (I still have 6 openings in that game). The game fee is $5, but I think I put out a product equal to the high price. To sub, it only takes $1 for 6 issues. Thanks.

Friend after friend departs;
Who hath not lost a friend?
There is no union here of hearts
That hath not here its end. —Montgomery

WELL, THAT COVERS IT

What am I going to do with so much space?
 I guess I can talk about anything I want that I don't put into regular issues of Impassable. Since this special edition will be going to all the traders, I have a sizeable audience of about 35-40 people. Okay, what will I rip-off on?

I think I'll comment on what I have been reading in other zines. But first, someone asked me to give descriptions of the various dippy organizations. As far as I know, there are only 3 national (or international) dippy organizations: TDA, IDA, and Games Bureau's Diplomacy Division. The latter is probably dead and defunct as many of its people went over to IDA. As for TDA, I did have a membership, but TDA is also now defunct because I never heard from its people other than the first time when I paid my dues. Last, we come to the IDA of which I belong to and am an active office holder as its Editor for the organization's Diplomacy Review.

The important thing to remember about the IDA (International Diplomacy Assoc.) is that it is active and democratic. That is a hell lot better than the past attempts at dippy organizations.

Membership fee for 1972 is $1, but the dues have been raised to $2 for 1972.
 We are active, and therefore we're not cheap. Yet, you get your money's worth.
 One-half of the membership dues will be spent on Diplomacy Review. This is worked out on the basis of $1 for 6 issues that will come out per year.

Funds comes from other places, however, and the dedication of many people have led them to contribute their own money. This has carried us through 1971 with only a $1 membership due. Nevertheless, we are financially self-sufficient, and will continue to be so with a $2 membership dues.

To join, you send your membership fee to Walter Buchanan, who is our Vice Pres/Treasurer.

Okay, enough of that—I have read the latest Xenogogic published by Larry Peery.
 It seems that his "publishing empire" is in some trouble as a result of him doing too many things at once. Our motto:
 quality before quantity.

Apparently, Pete Weber may be drafted, if so, then his SMUT* magazine will have to be taken over by someone else to keep his games going.

Larry Peery, who has been having trouble in getting his zines out on time, has run into trouble with the Ombudsman of the IDA (of which Larry is the Prez). One of his players took a complaint to the Ombudsman, Edi Birsan, who decreed that the game should be removed from Larry's control.
 I think that Edi is going to be the game's new GM.

This is the time of the year where all the students are moving back to their colleges, or whatever. Of course, this just makes it harder for the GM to run his games, especially if the players forget to report their movings.

The recent poll in Impassable came up with several surprises, and maybe they aren't really surprises, but the main results were that everyone wanted more of everything but games. Hah! Those greedy little devils! My biggest concern was about having black propaganda or not. The results were too close to warrant changing the house rules on black propaganda. I decided to have a revote and make it mandatory for all players in Impassable.

Well, I don't want to type a fourth page, but just use it for a cover. Then, I guess that these must be my last few words to be typed for you fellows. Bye.
